

Mobilabs

M-Learning South Africa will repurpose recycled, donated smart phones into “Mobies,” powerful handheld student computers. In combination with a web-enabled teacher laptop computer, Mobies will transform the ordinary classroom into a resource-rich “Mobilab”. Equipped with “memory” cards, Mobies will become libraries containing curriculum-aligned literature, articles, educational films and audio podcasts. Moreover, unlike stationary computers, Mobies will take learning out into the world. With their cameras, audio and video recorders, Mobies will empower students to conduct/create and share their own stories, scientific investigations and research reports.
